ANEW

TEST

OF THE Church of England's Loyalty.

Parties and Factions in this brangling Nation, the Champions of the Church of England, as they wou'd have themselves call'd, have laid it down as the distinguishing Mark of their Hierarchy, that it is her Practice, and has been deriv'd from her very Constitution, as well as Doctrine, to fix in all her Members Principles of unshaken Loyalty to her Prince, entire and undisputed Obedience to all her Commands, and an Abhorrence of the very shoughts of those Hellish Principles, That it can be lawful on any Account what soever to resist the establish'd Power of their Kings.

'Twou'd be endless to quote the Reverend

Dr. B---ge, who from the Text in the Resist not the Powers, &c. for whatsoever Powers are, be ordained of God; whosoever therefore resisteth the Power, resisteth the Ordinance of God; tells us, 'That if the King shou'd by his Royal Command execute the greatest Vio-· lence upon either our Person or Estate, our · Duty was to submit by Prayers and Tears first ' to God Almighty, to turn the Wrath of His 'Vicegerent from His Servant, and by humble Entreaty to beg his Majesties Grace and Pardon; but to lift up the Hand against the Lord's Anointed, or resist the Evil of Punishment be thought fit to inflict, this were a 'Crime unpardonable either before God or 'Man, and a Crime, (fays the Reverend Dr.) which we blefs God the very Principles of our Ever Loyal Mother, the Church of Eng-' land, abhors and detests.

Let Incendiaries, Phanaticks, and Bloody Peace-breaking Whigs (Tays another Learned)

Divine) nourish the Viprous Principles of Treason and Rebellion, and let them meet the

'due Reward of their Factious Doings in the Resentments of a Righteous, but Provok'd,

'Nation: But God be praised, our Mother the 'Church of England has always brought up her her Sons in an unspotted Loyalty and Obedience; none have been found lifting up their · Hands against their Soveraign, or possessing the Rights of the Anointed of God, &c.

'The very Being and Life, the Original and Principles of the Church of England, (fays another 30th of January Sermon) is Loyalty and Fidelity to God as the Immediate Supream, and to the King as the lively Image of Divine Authority, whose Power is immediately derived from, holds of, and is accountable to the Colling of t table to none but to God Himfelf.

To avoid Prolixity of Quotation, the Reader is desir'd to accept of these as sufficient Proofs of what I lay down upon this Condition; nevertheless, that belides the general Appeal which I might make to the Memory of most Men, I oblige my self upon Demand to produce Ten Thousand fair Quotations out of the Writings of our late Modern Authors fince the Restauration; wherein the Do-Arines of Non-relistance of Princes, Passive Obedience, and the Divine Authority of the Kingly Power, is own'd and declar'd to be an Essential Part of the Profession and Practice of the Church of England; and upon this Foot, which I hold to be fufficient, I think I cannot be cenfured if I take it for granted.

Now,

Now, as this too much divided Nation has always been composed of two contending Parties, those Parties have been distinguished, as in like Cases, by Names of Contempt; and tho they have often changed them on either side, as Cavalier and Roundhead, Royalists and Rebels, Malignants and Phanaticks, Tories and Whigs, yet the Division has always been barely the Church and the Dissenter, and there it continues to this Day.

As the Church of England Party have boafted of their own Loyalty, so they have branded the Diffenter with Rebellion and Faction, not only in their Nature, but in their very Principles; they have laid it down in their Writings and Sermons, and Multitudes of their ignorant Hearers believe it, that the very Doctrine of the Dissenter is made up of Principles in their own Nature, tending to Confusion and Rebellion; they wont be content that we shou'd own there may be Men among all Parties of bad Defigns, and who wou'd on all Occasions embroil their Native Country, but it must be woven with the very Articles of Faith, and that 'tis the Religion of a Dissenter to disturb Government, kill Kings, and oppose Laws.

'The Phanatical Enemies of our King and Church (fays the Learned Dr. P---n) drink in Rebellion as Water; it is the very Subflance of their Schismatical Doctrine to overwhelm and destroy; and Commonwealths and Confusions are the Doctrines they preach.

He that lays out one Groat with a Dissenter (says the worthy Sir Roger in one of his famous Observators) contributes just so much as the Profits of that Groat amounts to in Trade towards the Subversion of the Monarchy, and erecting a Commonwealth; for the very Nature and Tendency of their Profession is destructive of Kingly Power, and the Government of the Nation and Commonwealth.

This has been the Opinion of the Church of England, both of themselves on one Hand, and of the Differers on the other Hand. I shou'd be glad if I cou'd only say, It has been, for we find tissstill too much their Opinion.

Let no Man fay that the Author of these Sheets is either widening or keeping unheal'd the Breaches of this Nation; for if I can make it appear that there is really no Occasion of such unnatural Divisions; and that neither the extraordinary Opinion of themselves, nor the Contempt of their Neighbours, as to the the Matter of Loyalty, is a becoming Principle; no, nor a rational one neither: For that as to Loyalty, Passive Obedience, Non-resistance, &c. there is really no great Disserence between one side or other. I go as far towards healing the Breach as any Man; for there can be no better way to end the Strife on both Sides, than to prove that neither Side has any just Cause to contend.

To examine the Matter on both Sides feems very useful at this time, in order to reconcile Parties, and to settle the Univerfal Character of the Nation.

The Government of England is a limited Monarchy, composed of King, Lords and Commons. Each have their several, their separate, and their conjunctive Powers; which acting in Concert, make the Harmony of the Constitution. I shall not invade the Province of those learned Gentlemen, who have undertaken to set forth the Branches of the Constitution in all their Powers, Limitations and Prerogatives: 'Tis enough to say the Constitution is known, the Government is consind by Laws, the Crown limited by Statutes, and the People's Right confirm'd by the Concession of Ages.

To this Government, all Distinction of Names let apart, I am of the Opinion all Parties have in their Turns been equally Loyal: I was going to fay, equally Disloyal: And if I were to use the Language of late Times, it wou'd be a very proper way of speaking.

Affirming without demonstrating is an absurd way of arguing, and therefore it will be needful to come to Particulars, and to examine the several Acts and Deeds of both Parties when the Kingly Prerogative has shock'd or clash'd with the People.

In order to this 'tis needful to examine the Date of the Difference, and so to enter a little into History.

Our first Reformation from Popery was in the Days of King Edward the VI. I call it the first, because twas under him that the whole Nation and the Government embrac'd the Protestant Reform'd Religion; this Protestant Religion was established by that Zealous King, and by his Parliament, back'd with the Force of Laws, and confirmed by all the Sanction of Authority it was capable of, and here it began to be call'd the Church of England.

Some enquiring Christians were for making farther Steps, and carrying on the Reformation to a higher Degree; and if that good reforming King had liv'd, his Zeal and Integrity was fuch, that there was no doubt he wou'd have gone on to perfect every thing he had begun, as new Light or more Knowledge had encreased; but the Return of Popery under Queen Mary put a Stop to the Work in general, and went very far towards overturning the whole Structure of the Reformation.

Queen Elizabeth restor'd it again; but as she was a Zealous Protestant Queen, yet she was not for subjecting the Resormation to any Amendment. Not that she believed it perfect; but she was a Politick Princess, surrounded with Enemies that were not to be dally'd with, and she was loth to suppose such Desects in the Resormation as were alledg'd, because 'twas to lessen the Reputation of it, and consequently her Interest in the World.

Those who insisted upon the further Reformation were then call'd Puritans, because they set up for a greater Purity of Worship, and they separated themselves from the established Church, because, as they said, their Consciences inform'd them they cou'd serve God more agreeable to his Will.

I shall not meddle with the Arguments made use of on both Sides, either to defend or expose this Principle; 'tis sufficient to acquaint my Reader that this is the true Original of the Dissenters: We are now to examine a little further back. Before this Reformation there was no such thing as Church of England; it was then the Church of Rome that was the establish'd National Church.

The Protestants under the Titles of Lollards, Wicklistans, Hustes, &c. what did they do? Did they, as our Modern People say every Body shou'd, conform to what the Government commanded? No, the present Church of England Party were the Dissenters, the Schismaticks and Phanaticks, in the Days of King Henry VIII. were persecuted for not coming to Church; many of them put to Death, and always treated with Scorn and Contempt, as Enemies to the Government, Broachers of new Opinions, and Contempers of Authority; as in the Case of that famous Proto-Martyr of Christ's Church, John Lambert, and others.

In the next Ages these come to have the Power in their Hands, and forgetting that they had found it righteous in the Sight of God to obey God rather than Man, they treat those whose Consciences oblige them to dissent from them, with the same Contempt which themselves had received from the Roman Government.

C Thus

Thus far they are upon even Terms, as to Obedience to their Superiors.

The Differenters have the first Occasion after this to show their Submission under extraordinary Pressures. Queen Elizabeth discountenanc'd them continually; and as good a Queen as she was, put some of them to Death. King James I. hunted them quite out of the Kingdom, made Thousands of them fly into Holland and Germany, and at last to New-England.

During the long Reign of these two Princes we find no Charge of Treason or Rebellion upon them; they bore the Displeasure of their Princes with Patience and Passive Obedience; if I may be allow'd that Ridiculous. Phrase; being persecuted in one City, they fled to another; they bore illegal Prosecutions, and things contrary to their Right, as English Men, but never took up Arms against

Under the Reign of King Charles I. the Case alter'd, the King and Parliament fell out about Matters of Civil Right, and Invalion of the Liberty and Properties of the People, the Puritans or Differenters, call them what we please, fell in unanimously with the Parlia-

And here 'tis worthy Remark, that the first Difference between the King and the English

English Parliament did not respect Religion, but Civil Property; nor were the Majority of the House Puritans, but true Church Protestants, and English Men; who stood upon the Rights of the People, as English Men; and none were more Zealous in the first Disputes than the Lord Digby, Sir Thomas Wentworth, and such as were afterwards deep Sufferers for the King.

But the Parliament finding the Puritan Party stuck close to their Cause, they also came over to them when things came to a Rupture, and so the War begun on the Score of Right, Invasion of Liberty, Breach of the Laws, Private Leagues, and Male Administration; a Game we have seen play'd over again by the very same Church of England that have exclaim'd so much against it; so damn'd it, and so damn'd themselves, by Oaths, Declarations, Tests, and God knows what, against it.

'Tis allow'd here the Puritan broke thro' his Loyalty, and his former Obedience, and fought his Way to the Liberty he demanded. Well, the War ended to his Advantage, he fubdued his Soveraign, and brought him to the Block, to the Astonishment of the whole World.

I wont dispute here which or which Party did or did not do it, but to give the Enemy

all all

all just Advantage, I am willing to grant it in the largest Sence that the Dissenters, or Phanaticks, or Whigs, call them as you please, did embrue their Hands in the Blood of the Lord's Anointed, put to Death that blessed Martyr, King Charles the I. whom a learned Divine, in a Sermon on the 30th of January, before the Parliament, compares both in the manner of his Sufferings, and the People by whom, to our Saviour and the Jews, and boldly runs on in the Blasphemous Parallel, to shew that the Indignities and Sufferings of King Charles exceed those of Jesus Christ.

I think I have granted as largely as a fair Adversary can delire; for I have yeilded for Peace-sake to several things which I cou'd fairly disprove.

Nor shall I return to a Repetition of the ill Usage the Dissenters have received from the contrary Party on this Account for above 30 Years; the constant Reproaches they and their Children after them have met with from those Gentlemen, who on all Occasions have (as I hinted before) particularly taken care to extol their own unshaken Fidelity to their Prince, till at last an Occasion presents to touch them in the same most sensible Part, their Right and Property; and alas! their Loyalty, what became of it? Truly the Faithful, ful, Passively Obedient, Unshakenly Loyal Church, return'd to the Original Nature of their Neightbours, and did the same thing exactly which the Whigs, the Factious Rebellious Whigs, had done before.

'No, that's false, (says a Disciple of Dr. Sherlock's) we did not kill our King, we did 'not dip our Hands in Royal Blood, nor 'hurt the Lord's Anointed.

No, that's true, but the Lord's Anointed may thank himself for that; for my part I think the Difference only lyes here; the Whigs in 41. to 48. took up Arms against their King; and having conquer'd him, and taken him Prisoner, cut off his Head, because they had him: The Church of England took Arms against their King in 88. and did not cut off his Head, because they had him not. King Charles lost his Life, because he did not run away, and his Son, King James, sav'd his Life, because he did run away.

Tis fuch a Jest, such as Banter, to say, We did take up Arms, but we did not kill him: Bless us, kill our King, we would not have burt a Hair of his Head! Why, every Bullet shot at the Battel of the Boynes was askilling the King; for if you did not, it was because you could not hit him.

If a Highwayman fires at you upon the Road, when he is taken, and brought upon his his Trial, our learned Recorder, before he pronounces Sentence of Death, harangues him in this manner: And besides all this, Sir, you are plainly guilty of Murther; for you not only assaulted this honest Man, in order to take away his Money, but you endeavour'd to murther him; for you shot at him, in order to kill him; and the Intention of Murther is equally Criminal in the Eyes of God with the Act it self.

Now who did we shoot at at the Boyne? Tistrue, King James generally stood out of the way; but who did we shoot at? What! was our Orders to fight against both small and great, and not against the King of Israel? Had your Bullets Commission to shew their Loyalty, and not to touch the Lord's Anointed? If he had charg'd in the first Squadrons of his Horse, had you not kill'd him if you cou'd? I think this needs no further Proof.

Nay, if Arguments may be allow'd to have equal Weight on both Sides, the Whigs have been the honester of the two; for they never profess any such blind, absolute and undisputed Obedience to Princes as the others have done.

It has always been their Opinion, That Government was originally contrived by the Confent, and for the mutual Benefit of the Parties Govern'd, that the People have an Original Native Right to their Property, the Liberty of their their Persons and Possessions, unless forefaulted to the Laws, that they cannot be divested of this Right but by their own Consent, and that all Invasion of this Right is destructive of the Constitution, and dissolves the Compact of Government and Obedience.

They have always declar'd, That they understand their Allegiance to their Governors to be, supposing they govern them according to the Laws of the Land; and that if Princes break this Bond of Government, the Nature of it is inverted, and the Constitution ceases of course.

Buchanan in Scotland, Algernoon Sidney in England, have set their Names, and the latter his Blood, to this Doctrine, and the Author of the True-born Englishman is worth quoting in the Case.

The Government's ungirt when Justice dies, And Constitutions are Non-Entities:
The Nation's all a Mob, there's no such thing As Lords or Commons, Parliament or King:
A great promiscuous Crowd the Hydra lyes,
Till Laws revive, and mutual Contract ties:
A Chaos free to chuse for their own Share,
What Case of Government they please to wear.
If to a King they do the Reins commit,
All Men are bound in Conscience to submit;

But then that King must by his Oath assent
To Postulata's of the Government.
Which if he breaks, he cuts off the Entail,
And Power retreats to its Original.

True-born Englishman, P. 74.

This has been the avow'd Doctrine of the Diffenters, and is indeed the true Sence of the Constitution it self; pursuant to this Doctrine they thought they had a Right to oppose Violence with Force; believing that when Kings break Coronation Oaths, the Socian Compact with their People, and encroach upon their Civil Rights, contrary to the Laws of the Land, by which they are sworn to Rule, they cease to be the Lord's Anointed any longer, the Sanction of their Office is vanish'd, and they become Tyrants and Enemies of Mankind, and may be treated accordingly.

Now 'tis no wonder to find People of these Principles vigorously withstanding their Governors, when they tread upon the tender fore Places of the Constitution; 'tis nothing but what they all along pretended to, and declar'd to be their Opinion.

But to find the Church of England-Men, whose Loyalty has been the Subject of a Thou-fand Learned Authors, and numberless Sermons, whose Character and Mark of Distinction has been chosen more for her steddy Adherence and Fidelity to her Prince than to God Almighty; whose Obedience to her Monarch has been declar'd to be Inviolate and Immovable; and who pretends to be Famous thro' the whole World for her Faithfulness to Kings; for her, as foon as ever the King did but, as it were, feem to aim at crushing her Authority, as foon as he did but begin to call her Clergy to an Account, and clap up her Golden Candlesticks for Disobedience; for her to winch and kick, fly to foreign Princes for Protection, and rife in Arms against her Prince, O Pelin! O Brady! O Sherlock! O Hominem! O Mores!

Where's the worthy Dr. B----ge's Loyalty now? His Immovable Loyalty, that after all his Absolute Submission is so far from being a Martyr to his own Doctrine, that he cou'd not lose a small Benefice for it?

Where is the Famous Dr. S----k? Who having stood out long in his old antiquated Doctrine of Passive Obedience, and confirm'd the Faith of his Suff'ring Brethren, by strong and wonderful Arguments, at last, at the powerful Instigation of a Wife, and a good Sallary, has Sold all his Loyalty for a Mess of Pottage, solving his Honesty with the wretched Distinction of a Power De Facto, and a Power

De Jure, as if the Church of England's Credit cou'd be fav'd by fuch an impotent Shift, or as if he cou'd make Amends to the Prebendary for his helping him to Sacrifice his Brethren to Father his Conversion upon reading honest Dr. Overall, whose Doctrine, 'tis well known, the Doctor knew before; but that he was loth Dr. South shou'd have the Honour of bringing him over to such Old Phanatick Principles?

Behold the Loyalty of the Church of England; now let's examine their Conscience, as to taking Oaths; and if I do not bring them to be all Whigs, and Forty-One-Men, or else prove them all Perjur'd, then I do nothing.

The Clergy, all the Magistrates and Officers of the Houshold, of the Civil or Military Government, were Members of the Church of England, otherwise they cou'd not be employ'd; the Sacramental Test has done the Dissenters this Kindness, that 'tis plain all the Managing Hands in the Kingdom were Disciples of the Church; and as an additional Circumstance, the Oath of Allegiance which they took, and which was (God be praised) of their own making, bound them to that same Absolute Blind Obedience which they profest, and confin'd it to the King, his Heirs and Successors.

If this Oath be consider'd literally, I am content to be silenc'd, when one fair Argument can be brought to evade it; the Declaration follow'd it, wherein they detest and abhor that devilish Doctrine, that 'tis lawful on any Pretence whatsoever, (Mark the Emphasis) to take up Arms against the King; this (equal to an Oath) is declar'd in the Presence of God; and the Particulars being material to our Purpose, are as follows:

A. B. do Declare and Believe that it is not Lawful upon any Pretence what soever to take up Arms against the King; and that I do abbor that Traiterous Position of taking Arms by his Authority against those that are commissioned by him.

So help me God.

Notwithstanding this, you have taken up Arms against, deposed, and as far as you were able, put to Death your lawful King, the very King you fwore Allegiance to.

Now pray Gentlemen give Commission to some worthy Champion of your Church's Loyalty to bring you fairly off of your Oath and Declaration if you can; and till you do, be not angry with us for making one of these Conclusions from the Premises, and you shall chuse for your selves.

First, That this Doctrine of Absolute, Passive and Non-resistant Obedience, is an Absurdity in it self, contradictory to the Nature of Government and Allegiance, and politically introduced by State Engines into the Church of England, to abuse her, and betray her Members into unforeseen Mischiefs and Inconveniences.

Or, Secondly, That the Members of the Church of England are all Apostates from the very Fundamental Doctrine of their Church, Perjur'd in the Sight of God and Man, Notorious Hypocrites, and Deceivers; who having sworn Obedience without Reserve to their Prince, are become Traitors, Rebels, and Murtherers of the Lord's Anointed, and their Lawful Soveraign; and not having the Fear of God before their Eyes, have depos'd and traiterously dethron'd their Rightful King, God Almighty's Vicegerent, accountable to no Earthly Power, Supream under God, Abfolute, and from Divine Institution, Undoubted Sole Lord of them and their Country.

Or, Lastly, That they only are the true Church of England, who according to their avow'd Profession, have firmly adher'd to their King in all his Sufferings and Solitude, have never blacken'd their Consciences, nor gone back from their Obedience, forgotten their Oaths, nor sullied their Reputation with the

as they think it to be.

Now, as a fair Disputant, I am willing the Respondent shall chuse which of these three Confequences he will stand by in Behalf of the Church of England's Loyalty; but if they wou'd take the Advice of a Friend to the Honest Part of them, I wou'd recommend the first Conclusion to be fittest for them for the following Reason.

1. Because since Humane Infallibility is (and with good Reason) disown'd by the Church of England, both for her felf and every Body else, it can be no Diminution to her Reputation, when she has found her self mistaken, and impos'd upon, toacknowledge her Error; a wife Man will always own, rather than defend, a Mistake.

2. Because 'tis my Opinion that their Way is hedg'd up against any other Pretence, Evafion, or Refervation, and therefore tis with me the only thing that Charity can fay for them, and must remain so, till I find some thing else said that is more to the Purpose.

But the Mischief of all is, that if this be honestly acknowledg'd (as is doubtless most true) that the Church of England was mistaken, and imposed upon, to elpouse a Sensless Abfurd Principle, contrary to the Nature of Government and Allegiance, &c. why then they come over to this Consequence.

That Government and Allegiance are both Conditional, and Oaths of Subjects are always to be consider'd in a Constructive Sence, with Conditions of Protection, and the like; a thing which is without question the real Meaning of all Oaths of Allegiance; otherwise Subjects may be put under an absolute Necessity of Perjury, or State Martyrdom, by often swearing what may be impossible for them to perform.

The Town of Aeth in Flanders has been about 6 times, and the Town of Rhinebergh in Gueldre about 12 times, taken and retaken; and as often as new Masters had Possession of the Place, so often the poor Inhabitants have fworn to their new Lords: What can the Meaning of such an Oath be, but that they will be faithful to them so long as they keep Possession of the Place? 'Twou'd be ridiculous to imagine the Imposers of the Oath requir'd any more.

If our Zealous Churchmen worded an Oath contrary to the very Nature of Swearing Allegiance, let them answer for it who first made it, then took it, then broke it: But the Nature of the thing can leave Room for no other Suggestion that I know of.

Till then some further Argument is produc'd, it must rest here, that the Church of England was Mistaken, Imposed upon, &c. that the finds when the Laws are Broken, the Right of the People Invaded, the Root of the Government Struck at, Church and State Undermin'd, and Despotick Tyranny at the Door, the Native Right of the People is Superior, and they may assume a Power to Right themselves.

And so we are brought back to Whiggism and 41; and, Gentlemen, there is no Remedy for it, help it if ye can.

Where now is the Difference between Church Loyalty, and Whiggish Loyalty, Roundhead or Cavalier, Churchman or Diffenter, Whig or Tory? All are alike; they are pleas'd, when legally Govern'd; Quarrelsome and Unruly, if Opprest; and will Defend themselves, if Assaulted; tho' it be by their Kings, or any Body elfe.

Why then is the Difference kept up? Methinks they might all be Friends together, for they are all alike; the Diffenters have been in their times as Loyal, and the Church of England in their time as Disloyal as one another. Vice versa; the Dissenters have been as Disloyal, and the Churchmen as Loyal as one another upon the fame Occasion; they have been both Sufferers, and have submitted to the Government; ay, and to the Oppressions and Persecutions of their Superiors and Soveraigns; and again, upon the like Occasions, they have both of them been Rebels, if their own Language may so far be us'd; they have both of them, in their Turn, taken Arms against, and depos'd their Rightful and Lawful Kings.

So that in my Opinion, with a Latitude to all that think otherwise to think as they please, the Church of England, and their Neighbours the Dissenters, have nothing to quarrel with one another about, as to Loyalty; as to other Matters I have nothing to tay to them, nor shall not mingle it with this Discourse.

Nor do I think I am writing a Satyr against the Church of England, nor is it at all intended to be so; and to stop all Pretences that way, I take the Freedom to say here has been no Crime, the Church of England has been in the right of it; not in taking Arms, but the Error was in Espousing, Crying up, and Pretending to a Blind Absolute Obedience to Princes, be their Commands never so Absolute, Tyrannical or Illegal; this neither the Doctrine nor Practice of the Church of England, nor of any Church or People in the Christian World, ever pretended to; and therefore the Fault lay in those People, who being them-themselves Members of the Church of England, suffer'd themselves to be deluded by State Ministers, to softer a Tenent upon the Church which her Original Constitution never pretended to, and then call it the Dostrine of the Church of England.

The first beginning of their pretended Doctrine was found in Manwaring's and Sibthorp's Libels, in the Days of King Charles I. cajoling the King; and then to please him, endeavouring to wheedle the People into a Belief of the Divine Right of Kingly Government; and affirming, that the King was not oblig'd by the Laws in the Administration of the Government.

Upon this preposterous Foundation they built the Illegitimate Structure of Absolute Undisputed Obedience; for if Kingly Power were once prov'd to be immediately deriv'd from Divine Authority, Absolute Obedience wou'd be a Consequence no Body cou'd dispute, since the same Obedience without Reserve wou'd be due to the Delegated Power, as to the Power Delegating.

And tho' this is a Point easily enough confuted, yet being willing to keep the present Dispute within as small a Compass as we can, I think our Argument has nothing at all to do with it.

Whether Government be of Divine Origi-E nal nal or not, seems not the Question here; for if it be not so, then, as before, the Church of England have been Mistaken, and Imposed upon; and if it be so, then the Church of England has trampled under Foot their own Doctrine, turn'd Rebels to God, and Apostates from the Faith they have profest, have Sacrilegiously and Traiterously taken up Arms against their Prince, assaulted the Lord's Anointed, resisted the Powers which are the Ordinance of God, deposed their Lawful Sovereign, broken their Allegiance, and consequently are a Parcel of Perjur'd Rebels; every Jot as bad as the worst Roundhead Regicide, and Rebel of the Year Forty One.

What more or less can be said I profess I know not, and am in great Expectation of something new in the Matter; for I cannot find in all the Writings I have met with any thing to contradict it.

The bringing Government and Obedience to the proper Circumstances of mutual Compact between King and People, seems to me to be the only Method to unravel this Skein of entangl'd Principles; the Nature of Government has made it the necessary Confequence of all Argument relating to Power; and I cou'd give Instances in all the Nations in the World, that some time or other, even the Right of Succession to Government, which must be as sacred as the Power, has been Interrupted and Limited by the People, in case of Tyranny and Illegal Governing; and every Nation, and this among the rest, has oftentimes Depos d their Princes for the Preservation of the State, when either Incapacity for Government, Tyrannical Usurpation, or other Male-Administration, has been the Case.

But this I think also needless here; every one that is vers'd in History can read the numerous Examples in the Roman, Grecian and Persian Histories, even Sacred Histories, where Kings were more particularly of Divine Right than anywhere, are full of them; the Histories of Spain, Portugal, France, Lombardy, the Empires of Germany and Muscovy, even the Papal Chair, have suffer'd Convulsions and Revolutions, the Deposing and Displacing their Soveraigns, when the People's Good, which is, and ever was, the Soul, the Center, the End, and the Cause of all Government, came to be in the Dispute.

But to return to the Principles of the Two Parties we are now discoursing of; the Whigs, as before, have always afferted this to be their Notion of Government and Governors; and the Church of England, however some among them have topt an empty Notion upon them, have all along, and now at last once for all, own'd it by their Practice,

That Kings when they descend to Tyranny, Dissolve the Bond, and leave the Subject free. True-born Eng. Man, P. 47.

The Act for the further Limitation of the Crown past in the last Parliament, and the Right of the People therein Declar'd and Recogniz'd, I wou'd ask my Opponent whose Act and Deed it was? Will they say it was a Whiggish Act, made by a Phanatical House of Commons? I dare say there was not Ten Dissenters in the House; let them descend with us into Particulars, let them draw out a Black List of Members, who in that Loyal Honest English Parliament gave their Hands to the last Settlement and Declaration of Right, and let us tell Noses, and put a Brand upon the Phanaticks among them.

Will they tell us it was a Phanatical Parliament that let the Crown upon the Queen's Head? I hope they will own Her Majesty and their Lordships the Bishops are part of the Church of England; for if the Head and the principal Members are not, we know not who are.

Will they tell us that Sir E. S. Sir B. S. Sir J. B. Mr. H---y, Sir C---r-M----ve, and a Hundred more of that Side, were Whigs and Commonwealth-men?

How

How comes it to pass in England that no Papist can inherit? Divine Right ought to supercede all Precautions, and the young Prince of Savoy, not the House of Hannover, ought to reign with a Non Obstante to all Humane Limitation, if all was from Heaven: Where are our Right-Line-Men now! Why, truly the Reason is plain, the Church of England, People of England, a Church of England Parliament of England, have thought fit to declare, that for the Good of the People, to which all Right of Succession to Power must give way, because from them all Power it self does derive, and by the Voice of that People (in which Authority sufficient is Legally Grounded) it is Unanimously agreed, that we will not have a Papist to Reign over us.

All this is too plain to admit of a Dispute; and now to me it seems Preposterous why any Men shou'd keep up the Distinction between Parties as to Loyalty, when indeed there is no manner of Difference in the Case.

I have talk'd feveral times of Bearing, Suffering, being Perfecuted and Oppress'd, as the Dissenters in their time have been more than enough, and again in their Turn the Church of England have been Perfecuted too; for as I noted before, they were once the Schifmaticks, the Whigs, and the Dissenters. Now I think 'tis not very foreign to my Argument, to examine whether of the Two behav'd themselves felves under their Sufferings with the greatest Submission, who showd most Absolute Obedience to their Superiors, and who first, or oftenest rebell'd against their Lawful Sovereign.

The Protestants under Henry VIII. were the first Dissenters; they were kept Under, Perfecuted, and put to Death as Rebels and Schifmaticks. Now upon due Search it will be found, that under the Protection of Two Protestant Queens, Wives of King Henry VIII. they had more than once form'd such Interest at Court, and in the Kingdom, as to begin to be formidable to the Popish Powers then reigning; and the Fall of the Lord Cromwell was thought a necessary Policy in King Henry, to prevent the Plots of the Phanatical Church of England Hereticks; a long Account of which may be read in the Life of that Prince.

King Edward the VI. a Zealous and Pious Prince, made no Scruple for the Propagation of the Protestant Church of England, of which he was the Glorious Founder, to set Aside the Lawful and Undisputed Succession of his own Sisters, to Establish the Crown in the Lady Jane Grey, who he know wou'd carry on the Work of Reformation.

There's an Instance of the Zeal for Succession in the Right Line, in the First Protestant Head that ever the Church of England had.

After this, the Gospellers, that is, the Church of England Protestants of Susfolk, having some Sence of Injury done to the Princess Mary, and willing to have the Succession go on in the Right Line, provided they cou'd both Preserve their Religion and Loyalty too, Capitulate with her, and Promise to stand by her, provided she wou'd Promise to Preserve, and make no Alteration in their Establish'd Church of England.

Here the Church of England Men own'd the Liberty of their Religion to be Superior to their Loyalty to her; and that they had a Right to Submit, or not to Submit, as their Liberty was, or was not, Secure; and accordingly Condition'd with her, before they wou'd Acknowledge her to be their Queen.

And we see how Heaven punish'd them for venturing on the Word of a Prince when their Religion and Liberty was at Stake.

In this Queen's Time the Church having been again Suppress'd, and Popery Erected, Sir Thomas Wyatt, an honest Church of England Protestant, with a very good Body of Men, took up Arms against their Lawful Prince, for breaking her Word in Defence of their Dear Religion, Establish'd by Blessed King Edward, which were the very Words of the Manisesto they Published: The Londoners, with 800 Men, sent by the Queen against them, thought it no Treachery to Defert their Lawful Popish Queen, and go over to their Protestant Church of England Brethren.

We have nothing to do with the Justification of this Fact; 'tis sufficient that so it was, and that these were Protestants of the Church of England, in the first and purest Part of their Principles, and let them justifie the Fact if they pleafe.

Queen Elizabeth Succeeds, and then the Church of England shone in its Meridian Glory, and then grew up some, who aiming, as I said before, at a further Reformation; and the Church refusing to hearken to it, form'd a new Party of Diffenters, and these were call'd Paritans, and fince that Phanaticks.

Now I Challenge the Defender of this Cause to tell me one Disloyal Act, one Plot against the Government, one Disturbance of the Civil Peace, among these Dissenters, from the beginning of this Queen, which was their own beginning, to the Keign of King Charles I. which was a continu'd Term of 80 Years, and yet, during this time, they fuffer'd all manner of Indignities, Reproaches, Finings, Imprisonings, Banishment, Confiscations, and Corporal Punishments.

So that hitherto the Passive Obedience of the Diffenters bath far exceeded that of the Church of England. These had but Five Years Oppression under Queen Mary, and in that Five Years they once Capitulated with their Soveraign to make her Queen upon Conditions, and once took Arms against her after she was Queen; and by that I must always understand, that if they did not Depose and Destroy her, it was because they cou'd not; and if they had done it, no doubt they had Cause sufficient to justifie them before God and Man. The Puritans after this suffered all that their too cruel Brethren of the Church of England laid upon them during Three tedious Reigns, before they fo much as made the least offer at doing themselves Justice; and for 80 Years together exercis'd that Passive Obedience which they never pretended too.

At last they took Arms; and when they did, they did it to Purpose, carried all before them, subdued Monarchy, cut off their 11 - 11 1 4.

King's Head, and all that.

After the Restoration things began to return to their old Channel, and 30 Years more the Dissenters endur'd another Egyptian Servitude; were Persecuted, Plunder'd, Indicted, Imprison'd, Plagu'd with Impositions, Stigmatiz'd with a Thousand Reproaches; their Meeting houses Demolish'd, their Estates Confiscated, their Persons Excommunicated, and Anathematis'd, Sworn into Plots they never heard of, and into Crimes they never Committed, Dragg'd to Goals, Gibbets and Scaffolds, and the like. All this while Paffive Obedience, if there were any such thing, was found among them more than anywhere else; for here was no Rebellions no Insurrection, nor breaking of the Peace by the Dissenters notwithstanding all these Oppositions

After this comes King James the Second to the Crown, and the turn'd the Scale, and, together with Invasion of Liberty; falls upon the Church, begins to Rifle her of her Trophies, for no Essentials had been touch'd, and how long did She bear it? Not 80 Years, not 30 Years, no, not so many Months.

What did she do? Truly nothing but what she ought to have done; Defend her Liberty and Religion by Force, against Unjust Invasion and Tyranny; nothing but what all the Nations in the World have done, and wou'd do again if they cou'd.

The only Error we Charge upon the Church of England, was setting up Pretences of what they really wou'd not Practice; crying up themselves for Fools, when we knew they were Wiser Men; calling themselves Humble Slaves, but when the Trial came, proving Stubborn, Refractory, Liberty-Mongers, even as bad as the worst Whig or Phanatick of them all. For E

For the future, then if a Humble Moderator might be permitted to give Advice to the Gentlemen of the Church of England, it shou'd be in these short and friendly Terms.

Pray Gentlemen never be Imposed upon, to pretend to more Loyalty and more slavish Principles than you intend to Practice.

Never pretend to more Obedience than your Sovereign Requires. Our Late King, who I am not asham'd to show as a Patern for future Ages, requir'd; and Her Present Majesty, without Affront to Her Majesty's Authority it may be faid, requires no further Obedience from the People of England than the Laws of England requires.

To Govern according to Law, is a full Satisfaction to the People, and to Obey according to Law, is a full Satisfaction to the Sovereign. The Laws are the Test both of the Royal Authority, and of the Subjects Obedience; and to pretend to more Obedience than the Law requires, is abusing your Prince, and abusing your Selves.

Never be asham'd to own with your Brethren the Whigs, that you are willing to Submit to Authority, but that you expect to be govern'd according to the Laws and Statutes of this Realm.

Let the Scotch Motto be fet upon your Liberties, and according to your constant Practice, as well as ours: Let all Men know you design to make it Good. Nemo me Impune Lacessit.

And as it really never was the Principle of the Church of England, nor were a hundreth Part of the Members of the Church tainted with it; so for the Future 'tis hoped you will not suffer such to Mingle themselves among you, or to A& in the Name of the Church of England, who pretend to a Blind Absolute Obedience to Princes.

And Lastly, Gentlemen, a little more Modesty to your Humble Servants your Protestant Brethren, the Dissenters, or Whigs; I mean as to Matter of Loyalty: For in Truth, Gentlemen, we do not see any Reason you have to Reproach us in that Matter, you being in every Particular as faulty that way as your Neighbours.
